SPY STORY PROVES TO BE A FAKE.

A Sailor's Eccentricities the Cause of the Absurd Report-Cardenas Has Not Been Bombarded-Clara Barton at the Front. KEY WEST, April 30.-Yesterday was a day of wild rumor and little action. First came the story of the bombardment of Cardenas by the ships of the fleet stationed there. The rumors suddenly developed from nowhere and thrived lustily, acquiring an elaborate finish of detail and ornamentation. Then the monitor Puritan steamed into port and Captain Harrington, the commanding officer of the Cardenas fleet, gave the story its quietus by a firm declaration that there had been no bombardment of the Cardenas batteries, incidentally adding that there were no batteries there and only one or two insignificant gunboats, which had given no sign of offense.

The Puritan was hardly in port, to which she came for coal, when another picturesque story appeared. This was that a Spaniard was in the crew of the monitor and had been detected with a bunch of skeleton keys attempting to pick the lock of one of the powder magazines with intent to blow up the ship.

This thrilling tale was industriously spread by the Purltan's patriotic crew, who knew only a few of the facts, and it, too, was summarily nipped in the bud by the highest officers of the ship. According to them, the story arose from the fact that in the Puritan's crew is a Spaniard or Cuban by name Yglesias, eccentric and a trifle unbalanced, but who never was suspected of anything but the heartiest loyalty to the United States, in whose navy he has been for seven years.

He was seen the other day in one of the turrets by a fellow seaman, who reported an attempt to break open the magazine door, adding that cotton waste and rockets had been found on Tglesias. The latter was immediately put under restraint and a court of inquiry had been appointed to make an investigation. No court martial has been ordered or recommended, and while Captain Harrington refuses to discuss the affair pro or con other high officers may that a treasonable interpretation of the incident is prepos-

The chief incident of the day was the arrival of the troopship Panther with nearly 700 marines on board. She comes from Hampton reads in convoy of the Montgomery, Lieutenant Colonel Huntingdon is in command of the marines. He said the only event of the trip was a squall on Tuesday night which lasted 18 hours. The men stood it well.

The Mascotte arrived yesterday afternoon, bringing Miss Clara Barten and L. corps of Red Colds workers, consisting of Dr. Sant Mrn. S. Gandale, Dr. E. W. Egan, A. S. Cobb, C. H. Cottrell, J. A. McDowell, J. K. Elwell and Sisters Blanche McCorrieter, Admin Minute Royal, Isabelle Chen and Lacy Orayon. The party did not come ashers,

Cross ship State of Texas, which has been awaiting their arrival. The State of Texas, under Captain Young, has four other Red Cross workers on board and 1,400 tons of provisions, clothing and medicines. She will await instructions from Washington before proceeding for Cuba. The State of Texas will probably serve as a hospital ship for the fleet and troops. No news was received from the fleet yesterday.

WAR DEPARTMENT DEFICIT.

Over Thirty Million Dollars Necessary to Balance the Year's Account.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Secretary of the Treasury Gage received from the secretary of war yesterday estimates of deficiencies in appropriations required for the use of the war department for the remaining two months of the presant fiscal year aggregating $34,019.997.

Secretary Alger says in his letter that the acts of congress authorizing the enrollment of a volunteer army and placing the regular army on a war footing will necessitate this increased appropriation for the organization, support and maintenance of the new forces. The several it ms in the deficiency appropriation asked for are:

Signal service of the army $21,000; pay of the volunteers, $5,766,661; pay of the regulars, $1,415,253 subsistence, +2-739,643, regular supplies of quart amaster's department, $1,000 050, incliental expenses of quartermaster's department, $750,000 horses for cavalry and artillery, $1,500,000; barracks and quarters. $300,000; transportation, $6,000,000; clothing and camp and garris n equipage, $10,000,000; contingencies, $20,000; ordnance department, $3,747,405; medical and hospital department, $50 000; equipment of engineer troops, $50,090; torpedoes for harbor defense, $500,000;

expeditionary force to Cuba, $150 034. This estimate is entirely independent of the allotments made by the president to the war department from the $50.-000,000 defense appropriation. This will , indicate that up to July 1 next the increased expenditures on account of the war will be approximately $90 000,000.

Secretary Alger's recommendation will be promptly taken up in the house committee on appropriations and will be made part of the general deficiency appropriation bill, making the measure foot up more than $500,000,000. That bill has been held up for some weeks awaiting the submission of the expected heavy war deficiencies. Representative Sayers of Texas said yesterday there would be no opposition from the Democrats to immediate passage. The prospect is the bill will be reported to the house by the middle or the latter part of next week.

BUENOS AYRES, April 30.-It is an nounced that the Argentine Republic will publish a decree of neutrality during the war between Spain and the United States, but it appears certain that the government will reserve absointe liberty of action in regard to coal.

COLONEL NUNEZ AT TAMPA. Famous Filibuster to Lead an Invasion of Cuba.

TAMPA, Fla., April 30.—It is no longer a secret that the Cuban and American forces are working in harmony to whip the Spaniards.

Colonel Emilio Nunez, head of all the important Cuban filibustering expeditions arrived here yesterday from Washington and was met by a member of General Wade's staff, who escorted him to General Wade's headquarters where a lengthy conference was held.

Information from authentic sources substantiates the report that this government is co-operating with the Cuban leaders and that the first invasion made on the Spanish forces will be under the direction of Colonel Nunez and backed by men and artillery from this govern-

Already there is a large number of Cuban volunteers here, who are well supplied with Winchester rifles and other war implements and who are awaiting the arrival of the Cuban leader be-

Asiatic Squadron Will Probably Reach Manila Tomorrow---A Spanish Version of the Bombardment of Matanzas-The Paris Is Sufe.

WASHINGTON, April 30.--Yesterday was a day of alarming rumors, running all the way from the blowing up of a big monitor to the detection and punishment of traitors, but fortunately all of them turned out on inquiry to be without foundation. Actual events of importance were few in number. The news of the day of most interest was the departure from Cape Verde of the Spanish fleet, the stay of which at St. Vincent has been a source of anxiety on the part of the officials here because it seemed to indicate the sympathy of Portugal for Spain might lead her to wink at a violation of neutrality laws in favor of Spain. Late in the afternoon a cablegram came to the state department from Cape Verde, bearing no signature, announcing that four battleships and three torpedo boats had started north and some of the transports for Chiba and that the northern ports for Cuba and that the northern fleet returned shortly, having been in collision. Because there was no signa-ture attached the officials did not know what importance to attach to this message, as these are not times to accept what appears to be information without close scrutiny.

Captain Sampson sent a telegram relative to the firing at the Matanzas forts, but it was disappointingly lacking in detail. The few words contained in the dispatch merely went to confirm the official view that the affair was nothing more than a naval reconnoissance.

No news came yesterday from Admiral Dewey's squadron, now on its way to the Philippines to do battle with the Spanish fleet. One officer pointed out that if Admiral Dewey succeeded in defeating the Spanish fleet the Spanish officials who control the cable connecting the island with the rest of the world in all probability may suppress the news or distort the facts into a Spanish victory. Presuming that the admiral is bound directly for Manils, the calculations made at the navy department show he will arrive about 2 o'clock this morning, Manila time, which is about 12 hours earlier than our own. The pressure continues unabated on the war department for changes in the plans already announced as to mobilization of the volunteer troops, and very much against its will and judgment the department is making some concessions in this matter.

A large number of callers are bringing forward candidates for the many plums within the gift of the president and Secretary Alger in the shape of appointments to grades above regimental in the army. General Lee and General Dodge spent a good part of the day in conference with officials, giving color to the reports that they are among those selected for appointment as major generals. The announcement that the State of Texas, laden with supplies for the reconcentrados, is destined for Sagua has led to the surmise that it is probably this port instead of Matanzas which has been selected for the landing place of the first division of United States troops. Regarding the harmless growls that appear in the Europ an papers and threats to interfere to prevent the United States forces from blockading the Philippines it may be stated that this was fully expected. During the civil war there were a great many attempts on the part of European nations to disregard our blockades and threats of interference, all of which came to naught from the firm attitude assumed by the secretary of state. In the present case the conditions of the Cuban blockade are much more liberal toward foreign powers than ever imposed before. In anticipation of the action of the German commercial interests in combining to secure exemption from search for their mail steamers it is pointed out that the president in his proclamation declaring the existence of war explicitly announced that the voyages of mail steamers are not to be interfered with except on the clearest ground of suspicion of a violation of law in respect to contraband or blockade.

Viscount de Santo-Thyrso, the Portuguese minister, looked over the press cable dispatch from Lisbon giving the substance of the neutrality decree gazetted there yesterday and said it was evidently accurate and covered the entire subject. He had not, however, up to a late hour yesterday received an official notification of the neutrality de-

The viscount says that article 3, which permits belligerents to make a short stop at Portuguese ports, probably will be better understood by saying that belligerents will not be permitted to make long stays at Portuguese ports. Under the usual rules of international law the stay is likely to be confined to a day of two. In this connection the minister drew attention to the privileges permitted when warships of both belligerent nations were in the same port. In that case if the warship of one power leave port, the warship of the other power cannot leave in owrsuit within 24 hours first departing to go on her way without molestation. Portugal has been very insistent upon this particular rule, and a notable instance of it occurred when the famous Confederate privateer Alabama was at Lisbon during the civil war. A United States ship entered Lisbon harbor while the Alabama was there, and the Alabama Immediately withdrew. The United States ship apparently started in pursuit, whereupon he Portuguese batteries fired warning runs and were prepared to make armed resistance to the departure of the second warship before the first one had had her full 24 hours' start. It turned out that the northern ship had not intended to chase the Alabama, but was moving her buoys, so that trouble was averted. This same rule allowing 24 hours' start to the warship of either country will be again observed in the present conflict between the United States and Spain.

The British and French embassadors here have received instructions relative to the tonnage tax provision in the war tariff bill which passed the house of representatives yesterday. It is understood that the German embassador will also receive instructions on the same subject. The nature of the instructions is not disclosed, but they doubtless relate to joint representations against the severity of the new tonnage tax. Lead-ing diplomats are hopeful that their representations will lead to a modification of the clause before the new tariff bill becomes a law, as otherwise they feel that the tonnage dues will be so burdensome on British, French and German shipping as to cause it to seek Canadian and Mexican ports. Aside from the expected official representations of the foreign governments, the shipping interests of London, Havre, Bremen and other ports are supplementing the diplomatic negotiations with strong representations against the increased tonnage taxes. The Republic of Haiti is expected to maintain strict neutrality as between the United States and Spain, and it is said that reports of exceptional privileges given to the United States warships in Haitian waters are erroneous. The Haitian minister, Mr. J. N. Leger. said yesterday that he had received no official instructions concerning neutrality, but he had no doubt an attitude of impartial neutrality would be maintained. It is recognized among officials here that all the sympathies of Haiti are with the United States, and yet any action by that country inconsistent with strict neutrality would place Haiti in the attitude of being an ally of this country and an open enemy of Spain. Mr. Leger had noticed the published quotations from the treaty between the United States and Haiti, which, it was asserted, gave exceptional privileges to the Enited States, in that our warships were given the right to take coal and supplies in Haitian ports. The minister made a careful examination of his official text of the treaty and was unable to locate any such exceptional privilege. The treaty was made during the civil war and contains many provisions relative to conditions of war. But Mr. Leger's reading of them does not disclose any provision which is inconsistent with strict impartiality in a try, he said.

MADRID. April 30.—The minister of war, General Correa, in the chamber of deputies (congress) yesterday, replying to inquiries for particulars in regard to the bombardment of the forts at Matanzas, said the government had decided to publish "all the news received, good or bad."

Continuing, General Correa told the deputies that the United States squadron fired 60 projectiles and that the only victim was a mule, a remark which aroused laughter among the Spaniards. The general next informed the house that the American warships were injured by the fire of the Spanish batteries, and, continuing, he asserted that the insurgents were acting in conjunction with the United States forces, as they advanced in the direction of Matanzas while the bombardment was proceeding.

GENERAL WEYLER SPEAKS.

Urges Offensive Action-Rumor at Madrid Has the Montgomery Disabled.

MADRID, April 30 .- In the congress (lower house of certes) yesterday Senor Gasset, editor of El Imparcial, declared that Admiral Bermejo, minister of marine, lacked the necessary energy to cope with the present situation. Senor Sagasta, the premier, replied that Admiral Bermejo had rendered great service and that one day it would be shown that he had foreseen all eventualities.

Admiral Bermejo also declared that he had "enough energy to defend the fatherland, whatever happened," but added that now his "patriotism compelled him to be silent as to the measures taken to detend the integrity of the nation."

After Senor Moret, the minister of the colonies, had defended the policy of Cuban autonomy a bill was adopted granting the government "immunity for conferring autonomy on Cuba."

respecting the movements of the American army and fleet are considered as intended to hoodwink the Spanish government.

A great impression has been produced here by a rumor that the German government has issued a note declaring that it will not oppose the landing of troops in the Philippines, but will not permit a bombardment owing to the important German mercantile interests in all the towns of the islands. Germany's omission to declare neutrality is held to give color to this rumor.

The latest dispatches from Havana say it was the American warship Montgomery which went ashore off the coast of Pinar del Rio and that she grounded on the rocks near Colonados. According to these dispatches, three other warships succeeded in floating her, but the Montgomery is badly damaged.

THE PARIS SAFE IN PORT. The Big Liner Sighted Off Fire Island

Early This Morning. NEW YORK, April 30 .- The American liner Paris was sighted off Fire island at 2:47 this morning. The Paris was due in port last night, but her failure to arrive did not worry the officials of the American line, as it was known that she would encounter the rough weather that had been prevailing for the last few days. It was thought, too, that she had gone out of her usual course.

When the Paris comes into port' this morning, it is proposed to give Captain Watkins and the crew a welcome that few captains and crews have received at this port. When Captain Watkins appears at the customhouse with his manifest, he will find the rotunda decorated in his honor, and after he has filed his papers he will have an informal reception. Before this reception is given, however, both he and his vessel will receive a warm welcome from all the craft in the bay.

IN THE HOUSE.

War Revenue Bill Passed by a Vote of 181 to 131.

WASHINGTON, April 30 .- The house vesterday passed the war revenue bill with only one of the amendments agreed upon by the Republican members of the ways and means committee added. In order to accomplish this a parliamentary maneuver was necessary, as the whole time for amendments was exhausted by the minority in trying to amend the bond feature of the bill.

Mr. Dingley offered as a substitute an entirely new bill containing these amendments after the bill had been reported to the house. This was an old parliamentary trick frequently resorted to years ago. The Morrill tariff law, was passed in this way in its original form after it had been loaded down with amendments in committee of the whole. Many amendments were offered to the bond feature of the bill, ranging from a proposition for the substitution of an income tax provision to an authorization for an issue of $150,000,000 greenbacks. But all were voted down.

At the last minute the Democrats decided to offer the motion to recommit with instructions to report back the income tax proposition as an amendment to the bill instead of as a sur by the ships of one country will be the bond provision. This was due to the fact that a number of Democrats had seclined to vote to strike out the bond provision. The motion was defeated-134 to 173. Four Republicans voted with the Democrats and Populists on this vote. But on the final passage of the bill (which was carried, 181 to 131) the Democrats and Populists, with six exceptions, voted solidly against the bill,

> New Chairman of Democratic Caucus. WASHINGTON, April 30. - Senator Gorman, who for many years has been chairman of the Democratic caucus of the senate, resigned the position yesterday, and Senator Turple of Indiana was chosen as his successor. The change was made in a caucus yesterday, and the scene was an affecting one. Several speeches were made eulogizing Mr. Gorman in high terms and expressing deep regret that he should insist upon retiring. Senator Cockrell, who has been Mr. Gorman's principal adviser for many years, broke down and shed tears over the occurrence. DUN'S REVIEW.

Eatilities Have Not Changed Last Week's Business Conditions

NEW YORK, April 30 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Hostilities have not as yet changed last week's conditions. There is much postponement of orders by men who do not know what they are waiting for and much restriction of loans by banks which are abundantly strong. All this checks new business, and yet the volume of transactions through clearing houses is but 1.5 per cent less than in the same week of 1892, with no foreign trouble. Even of this decrease nearly all is due to speculative stagnation here, New York clearings being 2 per cent smaller than in 1892, but outside clearings only 0.6 per cent smaller.

The railroads are doing a great business--5.7 per cent larger than in 1892 in April earnings thus far and 13.9 larger than last year-and east bound tonnage from Chicago has been 254,990 in three weeks against 161,888 last year and 234,-994 in 1892, yet many contracts and purchases are deferred, in most cases because men do not know what the banks mean to do.

Failures for the week have been 262 in the United States against 237 last year, and 16 in Canada against 40 last Decided Predilections Shown by the Spring Tailor Dress -Some Costumes for May.

(COPYRIGHT, 1898.)

EW YORK, AprilThe tailor dress, which as the neatest and most practicable form of walking costume is the average woman's "stand-by." shows this spring certain decided predileccent of a man's frock coat.

(3) For the unorthodox chiffon vest. (4) For the short basqued coat or, as an alternative, for something reminis-

In other words, the tailor dress has broken bounds. It has demanded a larger liberty in matters great and small, and the demand has been granted, even to the verge of license. Once the shaped flounce was conceded, there remained no possibility of making a stand. Pipings, strappings, piped strappings and narrow hems were brought out in a bewildering number of permutations and combinations on the chance that concessions along legitimate lines might check the revolt. But all early tenets of simplicity and severity have been ruthlessly overridden and even now it is not certain that with the last pleasing extravagances of cut, construction and cobwebby decoration a halt has been called. A "Directoire" tailor dress seems more or less of an anomaly, but to that, among other things, we have come;

general scheme. The cape collar was big enough to make up; big enough to be a cape, practically, instead of a collar. It was nearly square, of ivorywhite cloth and was trimmed about with velvet. The coat opened to show a white, silk-patterned gauze vest, and was decoratively treated on both sides with old silver buttons.

A collar still more pronounced appeared upon a dress of another new blue, a perfect indigo. The material in this case was cashmere, the bodice a closed Eton protected by a cape, a collar-call it what you like-coming well over the shoulders and well down the front of the waist. A slightly rolled collar of hem-stitched white satin was the neck finish. A toque of blue and white chenille-spotted tulle, plumed with white ostrich feathers, was worn with this costume.

Probably the frock coat tailor dress represents the present extreme of eccentricity as to cut, though it is far from doing so as to elaboration. It is prophesied that the three-quarter length coat or basque will increase and multiply. At present the species is not numerous. It is represented mainly by the frock coat in checked materials; I have seen it in a small check of gray and orange, the coat plain as to its skirts but pluming itself upon small vest fronts of gray cloth adorned with narrow tunies, redingotes, spencers | the eminently useless but sometimes and all. High roll collars completed by "grandfathers" frills of lace, large buttons of an eccentric order, pink muslin and tulle ruches, four-tier skirts -as if three were not an elegant sufficiency-and sleeves cut in eight pieces to fit skin tight are only a few of the up-to-date-tailor gown's attractions.

A strictly conservative tailor costume, judging from an eminent example turned out this week, may be built of a fine smooth fawn cloth. Its flounce, from knee to hem, shows not a scrap of fullness but lends a certain sweeping grace to the skirt and to the narrow train. A delicate silk braiding forms a double line down each side of the front. simulating the familiar polonaise. The bodice shows a zouave effect of old Damascus embroidery, blending many colors. Turning over with pale yellow lace, it opens in a pear shape upon a tucked and feather-stitched vest of vellow mousseline de soie. The eightpiece sleeves are piped with black and end in bell cuffs lined with yellow. A picture hat of fine black straw trimmed with many feathers is demanded to complete this "tailor gown."

Less conservative but still erring, if at all, on the safe side is a costume which figured a few days ago at a gathering of women called together to discuss tea and tailor dresses at an establishment notable for supplying of both in perfection. This second dress is of pale mushroom cloth, and is cut with a three-tier skirt, the different levels being emphasized by rows of a conspicuous and, in English phrase, "convincing" black and white silk galon. The bodice is a fantastically cut zonave edged with galon, faced with red moire and opening wide upon a tucked chemisette of white lace and

The vogue of the large collar was nany times illustrated at a morning meeting held by one of the woman's elubs yesterday. A dress of the new shade of blue-green, of which there has been an irruption within a week or two had a deep shaded flounce set on with a piping of velvet of a stronger tone. decorative gilt buttons. The standing collar was faced with orange velvet. The usual chiffon vest was observable. One of the best "directorie" dresses I have noticed was of "harebell blue" cloth, cut with a long redingote. The seams, the bottom of the skirt, the sides, the collar-which was very high -and the narrow epaulettes were trimmed with double rows of eyelets. The redingote was tight-fitting but scarcely compared in this respect with the sleeves, which seemed only the outside layers of the cuticle. They fell in round points over the front and back of the hand. Below the waist additional rows of eyelets formed a small trimming. A round hat, made of twists of blue velvet and trimmed with harebells. was provided:

Blue, especially bright blue, is being crammed down people's throats, or loaded upon their backs, at such an unprecedented rate that certain precautions should be observed. Most of the new blues shade more or less upon lavender. Only after consideration ought other women to infringe the copyright of the red-headed upon the blue-lavender. Given the rose and white silk that goes with auburn locks, Parma violet, Neapolitan violet, wood violet, harebell blue-the whole line of such colors is becoming; but the complexion of too much color, too little or-worst of allinged with sallowness, is far from being helped. Another consideration one might hesitate to mention did not duty compel: To "assume a complexion though you have it not" is unsafe with lavenders; that is, easily detectable.

Short coats for wear with tailor dresses are much in evidence. Bright blue coats, top paler blue gowns, green coats are worn with tan and vice versa. I'mt the "smart" coat is apt to be red and to have white cloth facing back large double revers. Such a coat is most esteemed when it has a short tabbed basque and cavaller cuffs, and is worn with a white buckskin belt and a hig crushable tie of white chiffon. Suppose such a coat to be the especial frature of one's attire, the desirable accessories are a gray cloth akivt and a gray hat triumed with gull's wings. ETLEN COBORN.

War times make hard times for some, surely. The representatives of the New York dailies here, who depend upon them as a side issue in meeting current expenses and obligations, will "go broke" if the war does not hurry up and get over. The news of the day, which was readily placed in the metropolitan columns at a fair renumeration in times of peace, is not now wanted. War news, rumors, fakes, pictures and cartoons hold forth and the "boys" are discour-

Lieut, John C. Fremont, who made the daring incursion on Cuban soil, Tuesday, is the son of the "Path Finder," as John C. Fremont, the first Republican candidate for President, in 1856, was dubbed. There are gray-haired men in this city who will recall that most memorable campaign with its "Wide Awakes" who inaugurated parades with torch lights and uniforms, keeping the campaign moving by night as well as by day.

A gentleman who suggests that the geography taught in the public schools just now should be especially directed toward the study of Cuba, and the other islands likely to be prominent in the present war, will, with others, beamused at an incident which occurred in one of the recitation rooms at the High school, Friday.

Spain is about to issue an order expelling all Americans from Spain. That's all right. Any American who would want to stay in such a country ought to be kicked out of it.

The wild and woolly plans of campaign published in the sensational papers, no two of which are alike, have produced a not unnatural effect upon the Spanish mind, and the belief prevails in that country that anarchy or something like it exists here, the Presideut and the military authorities having entirely lost their heads.

The President is being subjected to great pressure by Republican Senators and Representatives, who are not only . asking but demanding commission in the army for party heelers. The President is standing them off as best he can, for he realizes what a fatal mistake it parts of the county, who are taking out would be to officer an army with hun- Raines law certificates. gry politicians but, let him do the best he can, it is probable that many commissions will go to men who ought not to license after May 1st. receive them.

Manilla, Thursday, gives battle to Ad- day. miral Dewey's Asiatic squadron it may be taken as meaning that the Spanish policy is not to risk a battle on the seas. This has been foreshadowed by the detention of the Spanish flotilla at the Cape Verde islands as long as Portugal would harbor it there. Spain has lost all the vim and dash that used to characterize her in time of war. All her wars of recent years have been waiting wars. The Cuban rebellion thrived and grew strong because Spain's generals in Cuba trusted to famine and disease to do the work that fighting columns ought to have done. A nation which shrank from the test of battle with a few thousand rebels will not be likely to all at once become bold enough to risk a decisive naval battle with such an adversary as the United States. If Spain is allowed to have her way the war will not be a fighting war but it will be a long war.

Boney" Peterson Weld for Killing Harvey Manes - Grange Hot: I's New Landlord-Library's Temporary Quarters - Stone tutters Ordered to the Quarries - Liquor Tax Collections -Other Notes.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

-The coroner's jury in the case of Harvey Mapes' death met at Goshen, Friday afternoon, and heard the testi mony given by Calvin Hunter, George Hunter and Albert Green, who witnessed the affair, and two other negroes to whom Peterson had stated that he struck Mapes with the coal. The verdict was that the death of Mapes wacaused by the injuries received at the hands of Peterson. "Boney" was given a hearing before Justice Swezey, Friday afternoon, and held for the Grand Jury on a charge of manslaughter. Peterson has been living high since his arrest and he is in a very contented frame of mind, baving had plently to eat and all the cigarettes he wished to smoke. Before his arrest he was a sort of a social outcast on the "Green," but now his fellow negroes regard him as quite a distinguished personage and are anxious to do something for him. Harrison Garner, a brother of Harvey Garner, compared with whom even "Boney" is quite lamblike, is a very swell moke and sports a plug hat. He called upon "Boney,' Friday, to see if he wanted something to eat or tobacco, or anything of that description. But "Boney" isn't smoking tobacco while his cigarettes hold out and the fare furnished him in the iail suits him pretty well so the friendly overtures were disdainfully rejected.

FIREMEN TO ESCORT THE 24TH

The Companies Asked to Turn Out Large Delegations-Why Montagens Will Have the Right of Line,

The officers of the Middletown Fire Department met, Friday night, and decided that the companies should send as large delegations as possible, wearing futigue caps, Monday morning, to escort the 24th Company from the armory to station. Monhagen Hose Company will have the right of line, as five members of it are officers in the 24th Company.

The fire alarm will sound the chief's all, "three twos" half an hour before the 24th leaves the armory.

The department also decided to buy the "boys" 200 cigars to take along.

FLAG PRESENTATION TO THE 24TH

The Middletown Club Will Live the Soldiers a stand of Colors, To-night.

The members of the Middletown Club. having subscribed the necessary funds, have purchased a beautiful silk fing for the 24th Company and it will be presented to the company, to-night.

The members will meet at the club at 8 o'rlock, to-night, and proceed in a body to the armory, where at 8:30, Daniel Finn will present the flag in behalf of the club.

The flag is on exhibition in Van Duzer & Smith's window,

She did not see any vessels of the United States fleet. The latter is supposed to be close in shore trying to communicate with the insurgents, preparatorg to continuing on to Mamila.

If reports, which are current here are correct, the U. S. first has a difficult task to accomplish. It is said that the entrance of Manilla bay is commanded by from fifty to eixty heavy guns, well placed, and it is added that it will be impossible for American war ships to enter the bay without battleships or without the co-operation of a strong land force It is therefore believed Commodore Dewey will not attempt to force an entrance to the harbor, but will blockade the port until the insurgents move on

A VERY EARLY START.

The 24th To Leave Town at 8 G'clock Monday Morning-Cars To Be Attached to a special With Troops from the Western Past of the State.

Three o'clock, Monday morning, is the hour at which the 24th will leave town for the camp at Hempstead Plains.

Orders have not yet been received by Capt. McIntyre, but Eric Agent Wright has been notified that the cars provided for transportation of the company will be attached to one of the special trains, loaded with troops from the western part of the State, which will reach this city at 3 o'clock.

The Eric officials expect that the 33d Company of Walton will be transferred to their road here, but we learn that the 33d Company's captain, this afternoon, asked the Erie for rates from Hancock to New York, and the O. and W. for rates from Walton to Weehawken.

The very early hour of the company's departure will interfere somewhat with the ovation our citizens had planned to give the company, but there will be many on hand to bid the boys good-by and wish them godspeed.

BOLD IN MIDDLETOWN BY W. D. OLNEY.

A Judgment By a Lion

WE HAD come down off the moun-tains near Fremont's peak-the six of us, who had been prospecting for hree months-and we had scarcely struck the trail when we ran upon a mountain outfit. There were three white men, two half-breeds, a Mexican and a negro, and the party had six pack mules with them. They had just gone into camp for the night, and after hearty greetings all around we pitched our tents alongside and cooked our suppers at the same camp fire. The strangers were bound up to Little Squaw mountain on a hunt for gold. The leader was Jim Williams.

There would have been no trouble between the two outfits but for the eards which were introduced after supper. And, as it was, only a portion of the men dared to play, as the day had been a tiresome one to all. Our chief. Frank Johnson, of Nevada, sat down with Williams, and both were in great good nature as I wrapped myself in my blanket and fell asleep. I had slept for two hours when aroused by the sounds of a quarrel. I was the last man of the 13 to roll out, and I found every one of the 12 with a gun in his hand. It seemed that the two leaders had begun playing for money and, luck being with our man, he had won heavily. Then there came a dispute as to some point, the lie was passed and the men of both outfits were ready to open fire on each other. It was the other crowd which backed down. Williams realized that he could not depend upon the Mexican and the negro and was, therefore, overmatched. After a moment, be flung down his gun and said to John-

"The crowd has nothing to do with this row, and I reckon we are men enough to settle it between ourselves." "In any way you choose," replied

"Well, then, I'll tell you my plan in the morning. One of us has to go under for what has passed, but to-morrow will be a long day. Let's call it off for tonight."

The two leaders shook hands, and I for one believed that it would be the end of the quarrel. I said as much to one of our men as we lay down again, but he whisperingly replied:

"You don't know the men. There is an old grudge between them. They will fight to-morrow, sure, and they will fight until one of them is dead." "A duel with rifles, pistols or knives?" l asked.

"I can't say. Both are square men, and it will be a square fight. Jim Williams is one of the gamest men in all the west, and as he has found his match there'll be a fight worth talking about for the next 20 years." The men of both camps slept peacefully during the remainder of the night and as we prepared and ate breakfast nobody had a word to say about the rouble of the night before. The two leaders gave each other "good morning" and chatted about the weather, and I would have wagered my all that the hard words had been forgotten and forgiven. I was looking for the order to pack up and move on as soon as breakfast was over, when Williams took a seat beside Johnson and quietly ob-

"You are in no hurry, I take it, and a day or two will make no difference to

"We can stop here a week as well as not," was the reply.

"Just ahead of us, to the north, is Jackson's basin."

"One of us is to leave here at nine o'clock. It will take him an hour to reach the far side. At ten o'clock the other will leave. We will hunt for each other in the basin. The one who lives to get out will return here and notify the camps. Do you understand?"

"Perfectly. We are to hunt for each other in the basin and to shoot on sight. One of us will be left there. The one who goes first turns on his trail and returns. We can stick to the trail or take to the woods. We may be bunting each other for half a day or half a

"That's the idea, and now we'll toss up to see who goes first. Is it heads or

"Heads," said our leader.

The coin which Williams tossed into the air fell tail up, and he rose up and

"It's for me to go first. Boys, you all understand this matter. Only one of us is to come back, and there's to be no hard feelings about it. If I'm left behind you'll push on with Bill here for your leader. What I've got in my packs you are welcome to divide between you. I've got 15 minutes to get ready in."

I heard every word of the above, as had every other man in camp, but it was hard for me to realize that the men were in sober earnest. It was to be a man hunt to the death, and they had talked it over as coolly as if the subject was a bear or deer. Williams took with him a rifle, a revolver, a knife, 50 extra cartridges and some bread and meat. When ready to go he shook hands with the two white men of the party, nodded to the others and to us and said to Johnson:

"In an hour I shall reach the far side and be ready to turn back. Sorry the earth isn't big enough for both of us, but we happen to be built that way. It's a fair show for both, and there'll be nothing to kick over."

During the hour allowed him Johnson cleaned his firearms, overhauled his pack and gave some instructions as to what should be done with certain interests in case he did not return. When the hour was up he shook hands with all around, had a word with the men of the other camp, and he was whistling as he disappeared from view. It was at once agreed between the two camps that there should be peace, and each man found something at which to busy bimself. The mount then we enat the affair in the basin would be over before noon, but those who argued thus made a mistake. While both men meant to kill, neither proposed to take any chance. Life was the stake to be played for, and the game was to be drawn out.

When Williams had crossed the basin he turned and headed back south, but not on the trail. He knew Johnson too well to suppose that he would make his way to the center of the basin on the trail. He entered the woods on his right and made his way along through the tangle and over the bowlders with the stealth of an Indian. As our leader entered the basin he also entered the woods to his right. The two men thus made a half circle and were as far away from each other as the limit allowed. The basin contained about 500 acres of land and was walled in on every side. The trees were not large, but the undergrowth was very thick, and there were also a great many bowlders lying about.
As Williams circled to the south and

Johnson to the north, each made a half circle before finding the other's trail. The distance covered by this half circle was about two miles, and such was the caution with which the men moved that it was afternoon before they came upon "signs." Each one's plan was now plain to the other, and both at once changed. That is, each returned over his own trail, or within reaching distance of it. This change simply prevented a meeting. When one man reached the north end of the trail the other was back at the south end, and it was four o'clock in the afternoon. Then each took the trail and held it to a point within 200 feet of the center, and Williams left it for the woods to his right. Without suspecting each other's presence they crept carefully forward until only 50 feet separated them. Then a wolf dashing out from the space between them gave both men the cue, and each man began working for a shot. Johnson bad before him three or four vine-covered bowlders, and he crept under the vines and was so well hidden that even the eyes of a fox could not have made him out. Half an hour passed, and it was growing dark in the forest, when Williams rose up alongside a tree and began peering about. His uprising was like that of a shadow, and for ten minutes be did not expose a finger as a target. Then he either became impatient or figured that Johnson was not at hand, and his head left the shelter of the tree to get a better look. It was too dark for Johnson to take accurate aim, and the bullet meant for Williams' eyes passed through and knocked the cap off his head. In a second Williams had fired in return. taking a snap shot at the flash, and his bullet tore through the cloth on Johnson's shoulder.

These were the first and best shots fired. Each man drew away after firing and they were probably a mile and a half apart as they made camp for the night. Had they been Indians they might have bunted each other in the darkness, but each lay down to sleep. feeling as safe as in camp. As the sun came up the hunt was again on. They were now east and west of the trail and more than a mile apart. They seemed to locate each other by intuition, and one moved to the right and the other to the left to make a rear approach. At nine o'clock in the morning they had simply changed places. It was then that each threw away a portion of his woodcraft and began a bolder advance. At 11 o'clock as Johnson crept forward on hands and knees and started to lift himself up beside a tree he came face to face with Williams, who was about to do the same thing from the opposite direction. Both sprang up and began firing. The range was too close, and the sudden encounter had also upset them. Each man fired five or six bullets, each had his clothing perforated and then each retreated. Taking the tree as a common center, they began circling around it, and must have passed each other at least twice. Then the circle was broadened until the tree was half a mile from its outer edge, and it took in a mass of rock which both men had marked for a strong position. At about one o'clock in the afternoon

Johnson was creeping toward the rocks from one direction and Williams from another, but Williams gained the shelter first. Johnson caught a glimpse of him as he crouched among the shadows of the rocks, but waited to get a better view of him before firing. He lay on his stomach, his rifle over a stick on the earth and his eye at the sights, and he felt sure of his man. Let Williams move but a foot one way or the other and a bullet would find him. For ten minutes stillness reigned throughout the basin. Then, as sudden as a thunderbolt, there was an angry scream from a wild beast and Johnson saw some object cross his line of vision and descend upon the erouching man. It took him full half a minute to understand what was happening and that it was not a trick of his adversary. There were growls, shouts and screams, with two bodies. rolling over and over in the undergrowth, and Johnson at length made out that a mountain lion had sprung upon the man who was watching and waiting for him. As soon as this became clear he dashed forward, got in two shots and then flung away his rifle and attacked the lion with his knife. The beast had received seven stabs from Williams and two bullets from Johnson, and yet the latter was severely clawed before the beast gave up its hold on life. In lighting upon its victim it had seized him by the throat, and, though the man had made a wonderful fight of it, he died ere Johnson had finished the lion. Half an hour before dusk our leader came staggering into camp, his clothing in rags and his body bleeding from a dozen wounds. We rushed forward for an explanation, and, bracing his back against a tree, he said:

"It was a mountain lies. He killed Williams sad almost did for my. Though

UHE MAH'S PLEA

A New Resident of Washington Wants a Place to Buy Dellencies in the Evenius.

"Say," inquired a man who recently moved to Washington from a bigger but less beautiful town, reports the Star, "why aren't there any delicatessen shops in this metropolis? I haven't been able to find one, and I've scoured the town for them. Don't people that live in rooms ever get hungry after dark in this burg? If they don't, it's funny. My wife and I get ravenous every might about ten o'clock, and as neither of us believes in going to bed hangry-we haven't got any housekeeping plant, only furnished roomswe have to pile out and go downtown to get something to eat at a restaurant. My wife had to dress, of course, for this expedition, which is in other respects a wuisance and a bother. Now, if there were delicatessen shops in this town, when we get hungry at night I could slip on my overcoat or mackintosh over my smoking jacket, and skate out for a bit of Neufchatel cheese, a can of sardines, some brittle crackers, smoked tongue and stuff like that, and we always have a case of something wet around that we could wash it down with. I enjoy a feed like that at night a good deal more than I do restaurant stuff, anyhow, and so does my wife, but you can't get it here, for there are no delicatessen shops, and all of the highgrade groceries that sell the sort of thing you need or a smack before turning in are closed tighter'n a drum by eight o'clock, anyhow. If I had the money I'd start a delicatessen shack about in the middle northwest of this town, and get rich and sassy."

SLEEP IS SOUNDEST.

A Physician Says It is When One Drenms, Because Drenms Control the Brain.

"The popular idea of impression is that when persons dream much during a night to that extent their sleep is interfered with," remarked a well-known physician to a Washington Star reporter. "and it is a frequent thing to hear persons say that they dreamed so much during the night that they did not sleep or rest well. Now, the fact is, dreaming is as much rest or mental recreation as actual sleep to some respects, although it may not appear so on first thought. It is hard to prove this by actual experiment, because the conditions are so difficult to produce. There is a certain amount of evidence which can be used, however, to prove the proposition. Time and time again when persons have been waked up by others they have explained as a reason that they did not respond quicker that they did not hear the call. It is as clearly proved as anything can be that persons who are in a dreamy condition are much harder to wake than those who are sleeping, as they suppose, soundly. Take a parent, for instance a mother, when she is sleeping soundly, as she thinks, she can hear her child when it turns over or moves in its crib. Now, the same parent in a dreamy condition would hardly hear a knock at the door or other loud noise. The dream so controls the brain that during its pen-dency the sense of bearing is blunted."

An Irish Brigade.

NEW YORK, April 30.-A letter has been sent to President McKinley by William Lyman, president of the Irish National alliance, who is desirous of forming an Irish brigade to assist the United States in the war against Spain. The brigade is to be composed of military organizations affiliated with the Irish alliance, Aucient Order of Hibernians and the Irish Military union. Among the best known of the regiments which will be called on are the Clan-na-Gael guards of Chicago and the Red Branch knights of San Francisco.

Massachusetts Coast Guard.

BOSTON, April 30.-The board of fortifications has been at work ten days, General Merritt has granted the use of heavy guns for Massachuletts' fortifications. Other gans have been purchased by the state, and locations on the coast are now being determined. The heavy guns were ordered by the gave nment, to be delivered to the adjutant general of Massachusetts to be used to fortify the Massachusetts coast at points other than Fort Warren and the other army posts.

War Risks Not Enforced.

TORONTO, April 30.-The Canadian Life Insurance company and the Sun Life company have notified all policy holders in the United States that the war clause in the policies will not be enforced. Americans holding policies in these two companies may go to the front if they are called out without paying an extra war risk.

Grant's Nephew to Serve.

CHICAGO, April 30.-Lieutenant B. C. Dent, a retired naval officer, has received orders to report at once on board the training ship Constellation, now at Newport, R. I. Lieutenant Dent is a nephew of General Grant. He tendered his services to Secretary Long and his offer was immediately accepted.

A BOOK FOR ANGLERS.

A Guide to Fishing Resorts on the Line of the Picturesque Eric.

The Erie has just issued a new and enlarged edition of its fishing book, which will be of much interest to anglers. In addition to valuable articles on the fresh water game fish and methods of catching them, the book contains a directory of the best localities, with concise information as to distances, rates of fare, cost of boats, kinds of fish and largest recorded catches. The active interest taken by the Erie in maintaining a high standard of sport along its lines is shown by the great number of lakes and streams which, through its efforts, have been thoroughly stocked by the State and National Fish Commissions during the past few years. The book is bandsomely illustrated and can be obtained from ticket agents or on application to the general passenger

A Sister of St. Dominic Appointed Postmistress at the Forestburg Sanita-

The last official act of Postmaster Gen. Gary, was the signing of a commission constituting Sister M. Polycarpa Staeigel, order of St. Dominic, postmistress of St. Joseph's, the new post office created at St. Joseph's Sanitarium, Forestburg. This is the first instance of the appointment of a sister as postmistress in America or Europe.

All the sisters of the order, who are nurses in hospitals, have tendered their services to the government. They served on every battle field during the last war and lost norty-seven per cent, of their

Erie's Costly Jersey City Improvement

To merely shift the tracks so that traffic may go on without interruption, while the Erie tracks in Jersey City are being elevated, will cost $90,000. New milk sheds have already been erected about 100 feet south of Pavonia avenue.

Will Drive the 24th's Baggage Wagon Clem Atkins, having passed the necessary physical examination, was enlisted in the 24th Separate Company, this morning. He has been uniformed by Quartermaster Millspaugh and will go with the company to camp, Monday. He has been appointed driver of the company's mule team.

A Peculiar Affliction,

"At the age of six years my daughter was afflicted with scrofula. Her eyelids were being destroyed and the eyelashes were falling out. I decided to give her Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking three bottles she was cured and has never been troubled with scrofula since.' Mrs. Emma Valentine, Bluff Point, N. Y.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills. Maile for 25c, by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell

Spring

During the colder season impure humors accu-

The surface of the body being chilled the pores are closed and clogged, and impurities which might pass off in perspiration are forced back into the blood. Besides this, winter's hearty food, fats and sweets, contribute more impurities.

This briefly explains the existence of Spring Humors—those unsightly eruptions, painful boils, annoying pimples and other affections, which make the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla absolutely necessary at this season.

But with some people, impurities in the blood cause very different symptoms. The kidneys, liver and bowels are overmatched in their efforts to relieve the clogged system. Dizzy headaches, bilious attacks, failure of appetite, coated tongue, lame back, indigestion or that tired feeling are some of the results.

From the same cause may also come scrofula, neuralgia sciatica or rheumatism.

All these troubles and more may properly be called "Spring Humors," and just as there is one cause, a cure is found in just one remedy, and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the impure blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla enriches that which is weak and thin. Hood's Sarsaparilla vitalizes that which lacks vitality. Hood's Sarsaparilla leads in Merit, Sales and Cures.

For your Spring Medicine - to prevent or cure Spring Humors, and build up your health, take
